KeyMacro is a utility to help you reduce the amount of typing in password-protected applications. The KeyMacro feature operates when the application starts up for the first time. When a program is launched for the first time after installation or updates, the KeyMacro application performs a pre-defined process. The program sets up a temporary password, which can be set as your default password. The KeyMacro program is intended to reduce the amount of typing required by the user, by typing one-time passwords at application launch. KeyMacro can be integrated into your applications by placing a .keymacro file into the application directory. KEYMACRO Features: * Eliminate the need to type passwords that are associated with your applications * Automatically type the password that will be saved to the computer when you launch your applications * Generate a randomly-generated temporary password for use with your applications * Easily integrate KeyMacro into your applications * You can add your own custom passwords, if necessary * Keyboard lock feature can be enabled to protect your keyboard, if desired * Application saves current password to the KeyMacro history so that it can be used again * Works with.NET Framework 3.0 and up * Can work with PortableApps or PortableApps.com This software is provided 'as-is', without any express or implied warranty.
